OFFICIAL DOCUMENTS.

The Governor and Captain General of the Province of Entre-Rios, General-in-Chief of the Allied Army—

TO THE PEOPLE OF BUENOS AYRES—

PROCLAMATION.

CITIZENS—The tyranny of twenty years has now breathed its last gasp on the field of battle; thanks to the heroic gallantry of the liberating Legions, which I have the honor to command.

The odious Dictator of the Argentines, condemned to the contempt of all the friends of humanity, to serve as a warning and reproach to tyrants, flies panic-struck from this land, whose sons in more auspicious days hoisted the sacred flag of Liberty.

INHABITANTS OF BUENOS AYRES.—The hoarse trumpet of battles no longer sounds, and in its stead is only heard the fraternal shout, wherewith the sons of a common revolution, the heirs of a common glory, harmonise their patriotic affections, and celebrate in union the shameful defeat of the Dictator, and the longed for triumph of Argentine Liberty.

CITIZENS—The Allied Army of the Vanguard purposed to save you from the bloody tyrant who oppressed you, and has gloriously fulfilled its mission. Rosas has descended from the power usurped from the People, and the exigences of reason and justice are now satisfied. A general oblivion of all grievances. Confraternity and fusion of all political parties form the motto of the liberating devices. We are all friends and sons of the great Argentine family, except the monster Rosas, and the miscreants who, violating their compromises of honor, came to engross the ranks of the Argentine tyrant, after having signed the Convention of the 7th October of last year, in the Oriental State of the Uruguay. These will always be considered as beyond the pale of public law; as also the insurgents in the Province of Santa Fé, who forgetting that they were indebted for life and liberty, to the General-in-Chief of the Allied Army, assassinated with infamous treachery their Chief, Colonel Don Pedro Aquino.

CITIZENS—The heroes that compose the allied Liberating Legions salute and congratulate you through my medium. They wish you organization, progress and glory, and they implore them from Heaven, in reward of their fatigues and vigilance. To them are also added the fervent prayers of your best friend—

JUSTO JOSE DE URQUIZA.

"¡Viva la Confederacion Argentina!
Head Quarters, Palermo de San Benito, Feb. 4th 1852.

The Governor and Captain General of the Province of Entre-Rios, General-in-Chief of the Allied Army, to the President of the Oriental Republic of the Uruguay Don Joaquin Suarez—

The Argentine Nation yesterday recovered its liberty, and the colours of the Allied Armies floated victorious in the glorious fields of the "Chacra de Casero," where the tyrant and all his power could not resist the gallantry and heroism of the warriors of the American coalition, that, by the impulse of its civilising influences, and the power of its arms, has terminated in forty days the immortal campaign, that will give peace and permanent order to the Republics of the Plate, that may guarantee them from anarchy and despotism.

For the splendid triumph which we have obtained, and in which all have had so distinguished a part, I congratulate Y. E., and in your person the heroic Republic of the Uruguay.

God preserve Y. E. many years—

JUSTO J. DE URQUIZA."

["Comercio del Plata," 10th February 1852.]

"¡Viva la Confederacion Argentina!
The Provisional Governor of the Province of Buenos Ayres.

Buenos Ayres Feb. 10th 1852.

To H. E. the Governor and Captain General of the Province of Entre-Rios, General-in-Chief of the Allied Liberating Army, Brigadier D. Justo José de Urquiza.

Circumstances that require to be explained, have hitherto prevented the undersigned from discharging the obligation of replying to the note of Y. E., wherein during the afflictive moments of the 4th Instant, Y. E., confided to him the Provisional Government of the Province.

Y. E., is fully aware that it was precisely at the moment when the undersigned returned to the city, with the most honourable commission which Y. E. had confided to him, that the dispersed commenced the dreadful attempt at pillage, that spread terror throughout this unfortunate community. In these circumstances, the Provisional Governor, satisfied in his conscience that his co-provincials supported the election made by Y. E., understood that he was bound to dispense with all formality, and promptly and energetically rush to action.

The people of Buenos Ayres know how much they were indebted at those moments to this resolution; which, efficaciously seconded by the forces wherewith Y. E., aided it, was crowned with complete success, saving us from the most fearful crisis that could threaten us.

It was necessary to follow up this first act of Government, by one and another equally urgent, without interruption; and it thus happens that the undersigned is at the head of the Government of the Province, without having yet given any public intimation of his acceptance.

It is only now that he has been able to acknowledge the necessity of this informality, for the due coordination of the acts that must form the legitimate basis of the Administration. And to discharge it, the undersigned wishes to declare to Y. E., that at the moment he was placed in this post, he considered it his duty to accept it, making the sacrifice of his tranquillity and well-known inclinations. But the salvation of the city was at stake, and no man, in the honourable situation wherewith his fellow-citizens distinguish the undersigned, was entitled to refuse so sacred an exigence.

I accepted, Most Excellent Sir, as Y. E. has seen, and I have formed the firm resolution of continuing, so far as may be compatible with the vital necessities of the country, and those that become my upright and humble life.

In so doing, Most Excellent Sir, I discharge a duty, and I do it with that resignation with which during a long life I have devoted my services to the country, without remuneration or any personal object. To rectify a defect of formality that could not be avoided, the undersigned addresses Y. E., and protests that he has sworn in his conscience to fulfil all the duties of the commission he has received, and of the situation in which he exercises it.

God preserve Y. E. many years—

VICENTE LOPEZ."

¡ Viva la Confederacion Argentina !

THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNOR—

TO THE INHABITANTS OF THE PROVINCE OF BUENOS AYRES.

PROCLAMATION—

The magic word Liberty will no longer be the fallacious mask of barbarism converted into despotism. The Provisional Government wishes no more power than what may be founded on your devoted hearts, and to them he appeals, in the most critical moments of your existence. You are well aware that for thirty years, tyranny has consigned to the silence of darkness, all the voices of public spirits : you are well aware that hitherto the dearest rights of the citizen have reverted to the infernal head of a tyrant, crammed with frenetic passions, with brutal habits, with atrocious instincts, who during his Government has only felt complacency in destroying every thing public, and in horribly amalgamating the practice of his vices with the most sacred names, that society has formed for designating its greatest institutions.

You had fallen into ignominy ! . . . . and this people of Buenos Ayres, who had done so much, to have a history free from crimes and abominations, such as that of the great Confederacion of the North, has now a shameful page to trace, and had it not been that Heaven had predestined the illustrious General Urquiza to close it, that page would now have been continued ! . . . . The Provisional Government is aware, that it is unnecessary to excite you to the enthusiasm of gratitude ; it is aware that for you and your posterity, his name will be loaded with the blessings and the respect wherewith great men are named by the communities they have created, and perhaps a long time may not elapse without the Great Washington having a historical parallel among us.

The Provisional Government considers that you can never go to excess, whatever you may do, in manifesting our eternal gratitude to the Allied Army commanded by so illustrious a Chief. There are in it young and aged soldiers, whose names, covered with glory, are already familiar to us. The virtues of the soldier who, inspired by the genial example of his Chief, has practised, amidst the carnage and the combat, the lof iest duties of morality and probity, will ever be the admiration of this community. The same as our brethren and co-Provincials have reaped glories, great h..s been the portion that fell to the lot of the brave Orientals and Brazilians, that assisted them.

Before the day when the arm of the Liberator destroyed the tyranny that degraded you, only the foreigner had guarantees amongst us : he only was master of the labor, whereby the father of a family gave bread to his children ; only he raised his head at sun-rise, to cultivate the earth, and employ his hands in industry. You . . . . Oh ! you were the patrimony of that tyrant. Your parents and children have perished by hundreds in the silence of the dungeons ; the industry of our country was the inheritance of the venal, and the whole nation a spec. of barbarism, of degradation and scandal amidst the civilized world.

The Provisional Government has been called to place you in the contrast of this horrible situation. It is convinced that it may reckon with your love and your self-denial to assist it. The old man who heads it, and who addresses you, carries the burden of the last years of old age. You will find in him firmness and self-denial : few years of life remain for him : and since he is indebted to Providence for the inestimable blessing of having preserved it, that he might speak to you in this new era, he has resolved to consecrate to him the remainder of those years, that he may dispose of them for the good of the Country, according to his divine will.

He has confided to you his tranquillity, knowing that the effort he makes to fulfil this sacred obligation, hastens his approach to the tomb ; and he requests no other recompense from you, than that you make him feel, by your love and your co-operation, that he presides a people worthy henceforth of being free, honourably figuring in the centre of civilized America.

At moments so transcendent he cannot submit to you the details of his programme, but he promises you a manifest in which you will see the compass of his views and of his means. In it he will explain to you the tendencies that he considers expedient to develop in our land.

The Liberator of our Country has already spoken to you of reconciliation. Yes. Reconciliation of the legitimate parties of our revolution, is the magic word that approaches us to the glorious future reserved for these communities. In that very symbol the instruments of the system of corruption will receive their condign punishment, who have despoiled us for so many years, depriving us even of the right we previously had, of recording without sighs and tears our past glories.

VICENTE LOPEZ.

BUENOS AYRES.

The Proclamation of General Urquiza to the People of Buenos Ayres; is the starting point of the era on which we have entered ; the corner-stone of the social edifice to be reconstructed ; the pole-star that can alone guide the Argentines to a haven of safety and repose. To illustrate its spirit and tendency, and inculcate a rigid adherence to its prescriptions, is the preferent mission of the publicpress.

"The general Oblivion of all grievances, "must be resp nded to in a cordial and christian spirit. The exceptions are few and clearly defined ; and the motive of personal resentment, still less of party rivalry, can justify the slightest deviation from the course traced out in that most important document. If social rights have been evaded, or material interests compromised, redress must be sought through the ministry of the Laws ; allowing the Government and the Tribunals to act with the dignified independence and calm and mature deliberation, so requisite to unravel the complications of a long exceptional regime; that must henceforth be mentioned or remembered, only to guard against the possibility of its recurrence.

In the announced appointments of the Provisional Government, we have a pledge and earnest of its sincerity, in giving practical effect to the opportune and enlightened "Union of all political parties." In this view we rejoice to see retained in the list of justices of Peace for the present year, such names as D. Jose Maria Rodriguez, D. Francisco Lopez Sicco, and D. Felipe Vela. Public opinion cannot fail to ratify these nominations, and rally round an Administration, that shows such dignified and conciliative tact.

The incidents of the week have been so multifarious, that we reluctantly postpone several documents of public interest, whilst our notices of other occurrences must be very compendious.

On Sunday, various political emigrants revisited their native soil ; some of them after a long and painful separation. Among the more prominent, Messrs. Valentin Alsina, Vicente Fidel Lopez, Andres Somellera, José Marmol, and a son of the late Dr. Florencio Varela. H. E. Sr. Carneiro Leonard Dr. Dn. Diogenes Urquiza arrived by the same conveyance.

On Tuesday the 10th instant, at 2 p. m. Captain the Hon. Robert Gore, R. N., Her Britannick Majesty's Charge d'Affaires, accompanied by Mr. Martin Hood, Her Britannick Majesty's Consul, paid a visit to H. E. Brigadier D. Justo Jose de Urquiza, at Palermo.

Her Britannick Majesty's Charge d'Affaires addressed H. E. in the following terms :

"Most Excellent Sir,

Permit me to offer to Y. E. my humble respects and to assure you that Her Majesty my august Sovereign and the Government of Her Majesty invariably take the most sincere Interest in the Welfare and Prosperity of the Argentine Confederation ; and that the object of all my efforts is, and will be, to foment and draw closer the friendly relations that so happily exist between the two Nations. It is with the motive that I have done myself the honour to salute Y. E."

To which His Excellency made the following reply :—

"Thanks ; you can say to Your August Sovereign that the Argentine People have the most lively desire to maintain the most perfect friendly Relations with all Foreign Nations, but that the Argentine People are disposed and ready to repel attack- made upon them by ungrateful Foreigners."

Order and tranquility appear perfectly re-established within the City, and the public exasperation has gradually subsided since the sailing of the "Centaur" on Monday. The accounts from the country disturbs are much more favorable than could have been expected. Some depredations on property have been committed, but we have no heard of any case of personal violence, or loss of life among our country-men, with the melancholy exception of James Ruiz, near the Polvora de Cueli, who lost his life on the afternoon of the 3d, the day of the battle. This unhappy was an industrious and exemplary man ; and has left a widow and family to deplore his loss.

It is rumoured, and generally expected, that the vacancies in the Ministry are to be filled up as follows :—Dr. Valentin Alsina, Home Department ; Dr. Luis Peña, Foreign Affairs ; and Dr. José Benjamin Gorostiaga, Finance.

Preparations are being made for the public reception of the Liberating Army ; but we are not aware that the day has yet been fixed.

The commercial transactions of the week have necessarily been limited. The buoyant tendency of our paper currency, as unequivocal indication of confidence in the Administration and of new order of things, tends directly to paralyze the operations of our export market. It is to be hoped that early and effective measures may be adopted to rectify the evils of a system, incompatible with legitimate commerce and a public source of immorality and injustice through the entire community.

The morning papers of this day confirm the Ministerial appointments referred to above ; and also contain a decree of the Provisional Government, recognising the exceptions to the general amnesty, recorded in General Urquiza's proclamation. These documents, with the proclamation of H. E. the Minister of War to the Army, and several others are unavoidably postponed till our next.

Foreign Intelligence.

ENGLAND—Under the cognomen of "Old Pam," or "The Downing-Street Pet," Punch presents a facetious portrait of the Foreign Secretary, with an occasional sly thrust at some of his more notable contemporaries, on the diplomatic arena. Divested of its slang terms and caustic wit, it will be found brimful of affectionate regard for, and profound admiration of the Veteran Statesman, who merited from Sir Robert Peel, almost with his dying breath, the highest and chastest eulogium, that human lips ever pronounced on a living rival.

In presenting our readers with a portrait of this celebrated sporting character, we have no intention of going into a detailed account of his performances in the Diplomatic ring.

He may be strictly called "a veteran ;" but he has been such a remarkably steady man, and, thanks to this, is still so fresh, and in such good preservation, that no one would think of clapping on his head more than two-thirds of the 67 years he carries with so much pluck and liveliness.

"Old Pam," he is affectionately called by the nobs of the Fancy, with whom he is deservedly a great favourite, entered the ring in the good old milling times, when a fight was a fight, and no mistake. Boney the bruiser was still open to fight all the world, any weight, size, or odds, and Pam made his bow in the Stephan's, the Tennis Court of those days, just after Boney's great mill with "the Prussian," which came off in Austerlitz fields, and on the event of which so much changed hands.

Pam was trained in the sharp fast-hitting school of poor George Canning, that brilliant favourite of the Fancy. The style of this sanguinary boxer, was rather deficient in "slogging," and punishing qualities, and Pam early showed considerable judgment in combining with the neat sharp countering of the Canning school a good deal of the straightforward gain-and-win style, which never fails to insure a man backers in England.

It is not, however, as a fighting man, but a second, and still more as a bottle-holder that Pam is distinguished. He is great in arranging the preliminaries of a mill, though some have complained that there is a good deal of bounce about him, and that as a backer he is not to be trusted, being apt to desert his own man at the last moment, and hedge. It was no doubt a good deal owing to Pam's services that the unfortunate Slasher [whom Pam both backed and acted as bottle-holder to] gained his victory over "Old Egypt." In 1815, when "Little Thiers," who did the needful in the same way for "Old Egypt," was such a loser that he quite lost his temper in the field, and wanted to make a match to fight Pam the same ring. However, Pam never lost his good humour with the little fellow, whose tendency to chaff was well known ; and nothing serious ever came of it.

Pam was very busy in 1847, arranging the preliminaries of a mill between Johnny Bull and the late Lewis Phillip, on the occasion of the latter's entering into a match with "The Don," contrary to his engagement with Johnny. Many, however, thought that neither he nor Guizot, who acted as Phillip's "friend" on the occasion, ever meant fighting, and that neither one nor the other could have made the necessary deposits, though they both talked big.

Pam is always to be found in his own well-known sporting crib in Downing-street, where most of the matches and fights to come are negotiated. Recently there has been a good deal of talk about an affair of nonparalleled interest, to come off between two well-known heavy-weights, "Nick the Bear" and "Young Europe," in which both sides have applied to Pam, who has always hitherto been looked upon as a backer of the latter, and who, if he has any regard for his own character and that of his establishment, will certainly have nothing to say to Nick's backers, who have always patronized a rival house. We trust that wherever Pam appears as bottle-holder, it will be on the right side, assured, as we are, that this is the only way in which he can continue to merit the support of his friends and the public.

We have nothing to urge against him, unless it be that he certainly is open to the charge of occasionally bullying men that he thinks can't stand up to him, and that when he would get up a mill he is not always careful enough about the character of the man he backs.

Thus, in "Pacifico's" fight with "the Greek," when Pam backed the Jew, it was felt by many that Pam did not deal quite fairly ; and that though the bottle-money was paid over to the Jew, "the Greek" would certainly have won, had Pam gone quite "upon the square."

As a companion, Pam is a great favourite—great at chaff, sings a good song, and is seen to great advantage at the harmonic ordinary in St. Stephen's, Westminster, where he is the life and soul of the table, and where, in the sporting soirées for which the House is so celebrated, "the Downing-street Pet," despite his seven and-sixty summers, is still one of the quickest and neatest hands with the gloves that ever stepped on a stage. His performance on the occasion of his own benefit, last season, was an example of perfect science ; his quickness in stopping, his sharpness in counter-hitting, and, above all, his style of getting away from his man, were considered worthy of the best days of the Parliamentary Ring."

SPAIN. The Cortes were opened on the 5th November. There was no speech. A vote of thanks to the army and inhabitants of Cuba, was moved by Benavides, and carried unanimously.

The Minister has refused to suppress the "Nacion," at the request of the Pope's Nuncio, on account of the general indignation caused by the supression of the "Europa," the radical evening paper. However the "Nacion" and four other morning prints have had informations filed against them by the fiscal.

In the sitting of the Cortes on the 11th, some questions were asked on the subject of the communications made by the Government of the United States relative to Cuba. The Marquis of Miraflores, the Foreign Minister, said that important negotiations were now pending with the United States relative to Cuba, and that in those negotiations other Powers took part ; he was not able at present to explain to the Cortes what those negotiations were, but he could assure them that the Government would support with energy the rights of Spain.

"We are informed, says the "Dublin Evening Mail," that the Spanish Government has conceded a grant of 250 square miles of country on the banks of the Guadalquiver, in the Province of Andalusia and Estremadura containing more than 160,000 acres of land of the richest quality, to be colonised by Irish settlers under the following conditions :—exempted from taxation for 25 years. Administration of their furniture, clothing and agricultural implements free of duty. Privilege of felling timber in the Royal forests for building. Power to appoint their own municipal authorities.

The district in question having been depopulated by the expulsion of the Moors, has never since been properly occupied."

We subsequently see a Meeting in London to form an association for carrying into effect the projected colonization ; and Mr. Labouchere, the Secretary, was rather deficient in "slogging," and punishing qualities, and Pam early showed considerable judgment in combining with the neat sharp countering of the Canning school a good deal of the straightforward gain-and-win style, which never fails to insure a man backers in England.

It is not, however, as a fighting man, but a second, and still more as a bottle-holder that Pam is distinguished. He is great in arranging the preliminaries of a mill, though some have complained that there is a good deal of bounce about him, and that as a backer he is not to be trusted, being apt to desert his own man at the last moment, and hedge. It was no doubt a good deal owing to Pam's services that the unfortunate Slasher [whom Pam both backed and acted as bottle-holder to] gained his victory over "Old Egypt." In 1815, when "Little Thiers," who did the needful in the same way for "Old Egypt," was such a loser that he quite lost his temper in the field, and wanted to make a match to fight Pam the same ring. However, Pam never lost his good humour with the little fellow, whose tendency to chaff was well known ; and nothing serious ever came of it.

Pam was very busy in 1847, arranging the preliminaries of a mill between Johnny Bull and the late Lewis Phillip, on the occasion of the latter's entering into a match with "The Don," contrary to his engagement with Johnny. Many, however, thought that neither he nor Guizot, who acted as Phillip's "friend" on the occasion, ever meant fighting, and that neither one nor the other could have made the necessary deposits, though they both talked big.

GERMANY—The ovations to Kossuth are producing their natural effects on the Continent, as may be seen by the following extract :—

"The rumour circulated from Hamburg that Patatzky, the Hungarian arrested at Rendsburg, had been executed, is not confirmed ; but he is still under arrest. The Allgemeine Zeitung states that his real name is Pfortner, and that he is from Gross Kanischa, in Hungary. During the war he was attached to the staff of General Bem, and made the campaign of Siebenburgen, of which he wrote a descriptive work. After the capitulation of Vilagos he was by good luck not belong to the garrison, he received permission to emigrate to America under the name of Patachi, which is also attached to his books. He came to Hamburg, and resided there some time, receiving a carte de séjour, one of the citizens giving security for him. He afterwards resided in London, Brussels, and Paris, from whence he had just arrived when he was arrested. The authorities must have been aware of his plans as an emissary, since a notice was telegraphed to Hamburg the moment he crossed the German frontier. He is described as a highly educated man, but "unpractical." The attempt made by him to work on the Hungarian soldiers of the Austrian garrison in Rendsburgh having been traced to the revolutionary centre of Paris, has doubled the vigilance of the police, and all strangers may calculate on great inconvenience if they are in the slightest degree suspicious. The attempt to raise a military revolt in a Hungarian regiment in such a remote corner of the world as Rendsburg, among a population that would not have understood the leaders of it, or taken any part in it, and separated by the whole continent of Germany from Hungary itself, on which it was expected probably to set, was one of the most insane projects that even the madmen who seem to have the most influence in revolutionary committees could conceive. The soldiers themselves denounced the emissary sent among them, as might have been expected; for, on "foreign service," as the Hungarians may well consider an occupation of Danish territory to be, the military spirit is always stronger than the feeling of nationality. The abortive attempt has again excited all the suspicion of the Governments, and the increased severity of the system itself causes alarm, and the most improbable reports are raised to account for it. "To day, for instance, it is rumoured that a peculiar emblazonment of meat for the service of Kossuth is going on in Berlin! It is quite impossible; but shows what at the present moment finds belief.

The correspondent of the Daily News, who had just arrived from Vienna, was arrested this morning at an early hour, and kept under arrest till the departure of the Hamburg train, at 4 in the afternoon, by which he was compelled to leave Berlin and the territory of Prussia. No reasons were given, except that the order was issued on polizeiliche grunden, or "reasons of police." A representation was made to the Foreign-office through the English Embassy, but no answer has yet been received.—"Times."

UNITED STATES.—Our dates are to the 18th December. On the evening of the 15th a grand Editorial banquet had been given to Kossuth in Astor House. The toasts on the occasion were of the most Kossuthistic character; and Kossuth as usual acquitted himself with great eclat, adroitly adapting his appeal to time, place and circumstances. The following passage from the "Boston Daily Journal" of the 18th December, furnishes a striking illustration of the immediate effects of the agitation :—

"On Tuesday, when the music of the voice of Kossuth yet lingered in the ears of his hearers, Mr. Rhett of South Carolina, in a speech in the senate Chamber of the United States, on the compromise resolution of Mr. Foote, declared that the grievances of South Carolina at the hands of the North were such, as to leave that State no alternative but to sever the ties that connect it with the Union. He boldly announced that he was for immediate and unconditional secession, and affirmed that the tyranny of this Government was more ruthless than that of Austria which enslaved Hungary !"

As an evidence that Kossuth has not made converts or all the American Editors, that of the above mentioned Journal, in commenting his speeches, has the following terse and pertinent remarks :—

"The language, correctly interpreted, means that the object of the visit of the great Hungarian patriot to this Country, is to induce our Government to plunge madly into a war with Russia, Austria, Prussia, and probably with France, and that with which we have ever been on the most amicable terms : and with the chivalrous ardor of a D. Quixote, go forth to fight the battles of all the oppressed nations of Europe. It is idle to say, that if we should be so unwise as to listen favourably to the eloquent appeals of Kossuth, and issue a proclamation that no despotic power should be let alone to wage war against a people struggling for liberty in Europe—it is idle to say that we should at once become involved in a protracted, obstinate, ruinous and sanguinary struggle which besides being attended with manifold and obvious evils, would endanger our own liberties, and this in all probability without promoting the objects for which alone we so strongly urged to contend."

We observe the account of an unpleasant affair at Greytown, Mosquito coast, in November last; a British man-of-war having fired upon the American Steamer Prometheus, to enforce the payment of certain portdues claimed by the local authorities. The incident has caused a correspondence between the Senate and the General Government; the former requesting to know "what measures had been taken by the Executive to ascertain the facts and vindicate the honor of the country."

The President in his reply states that Commodore Parker had despatched the "Saranac" to San Juan de Nicaragua, to afford protection to American commerce and interests on that coast against any interference for the future; but that in his judgment, it would at the present moment be inconsistent with the public interest to communicate these instructions.

We regret to observe, that the distinguished Statesman, Mr. Clay, is in a declining and precarious state of health.
